Atlanta, GA - The Pro-Life movement is no stranger to the Knights of Columbus. However having a dedicated director to the cause was new ground for our council.

Luckily our newly appointed Pro-Life chairman, Jeff Howard, had very close ties to not only the church Pro-Life group but local and national groups as well.

those walking into and working for the abortion facility.

There was also an opportunity for door to door community outreach and private prayer, fasting, and sacrifice

So when it came time to get organized, the council decided to pair up with Prince of Peace's local pro-life group in an effort to support a community-wide event called "40 days for life".

Over 21 Knights including multiple squires and their families were in attendance in front of an abortion facility for close to 60+ hours.

Knights could get involved multiple ways - the biggest (and new for many Knights) was an on site and peaceful presence at a local abortion facility in Atlanta. Knights and families would spend time in silent vigil praying for Those that could not participate in silent vigil spent time in fasting and private prayer.
